

A Soldier's New Experience

by arthurifeelfunny

Category: Halo

Genre: Fantasy, Tragedy

Language: English

Status: Completed

Published: 2013-03-05 03:18:27

Updated: 2013-03-05 03:18:27

Packaged: 2016-04-26 23:16:38

Rating: M

Chapters: 1

Words: 558

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: I could hear one of those Skirmishers near me, probably right on top of me. I was laying face down so I can't tell for sure. He was making odd, cracking sounds, like a bird. But I think I can only hear one.

A Soldier's New Experience

I could hear one of those Skirmishers near me, probably right on top of me. I was laying face down so I can't tell for sure. He was making odd, cracking sounds, like a bird. But I think I can only hear one. He shouldn't be too much of a problem. Just one, nicely aimed bullet. But the problem is that I'm no good at using a gun, I was enlisted into the UNSC by force. If only I'd stayed in - The skirmisher placed both his claws on my back. I froze up. His bird like sounds quickly changed to a deeper croaking sound, like a frog. My heart was racing. Maybe he thought I was dead. Maybe he was just being curious. Maybe he -

His claws quickly moved from my mid-back to my waist. He then pulled down my pants. I couldn't process what was happening. My heart was going so fast I don't know how he didn't hear it. At this point I should of done something. But I was in shock, frozen in fear. He moved his legs between my waist. He paused. It seemed like an eternity. Then he... I felt something. In my lower back, going inside me. Why would he have his claw in - His claws were clamped around my waist. It wasn't his claw. I knew what it was. I was being raped by an alien bird.

He began thrusting. I was terrified. His unit began to get bigger in size. He was thrusting very fast. He was making a wheezing, breathless sound every time he made a thrust. About 3 times every second. That was really fast. I was scared beyond belief. I could feel tears going down my cheeks. But I retained myself to make any noises. Well, anything too loud. He was making a fair bit of noise. He just kept thrusting, his unit continues to grow, and he keeps going deeper. He just kept going on for what seemed like ages. Going deeper, deeper, deeper. Then eventually, He paused.

After a few seconds, he let out a high pitched moan, and he made a strong, uncontrolled shiver. It went through his entire body. Then I felt a warm, watery substance rush out of his unit. I couldn't believe what was happening. I've just had an alien bird ejaculate into my rear. It lasted a long time. Maybe half a minute. During all that time he was very heavily panting into my ear. I still wondered if he thought I was dead. When he finished ejaculating, he continued thrusting. Except at a slower, less aggressive pace. Then about after another 2 minutes, he came to a complete stop.

He pulled his unit out. But he was still on top of me. A careful look over my shoulder, I could see him gently licking his unit. It was really long, and red. Then another frightening thought came into mind. What if he flipped me around, and started to work on my own unit. Then he'd for sure know I'm not dead. Terror rushed into my mind. What would he do then? Would he kill me? Would he continue to violate me still? Would he - Right then, he froze. My heart dropped. He then looked up. Right at me. He was looking right into my eyes.

End
file.